Is the extended daily weather forecast for your location above 85°F? Long exposure to high heat can damage your wine during transit from our front door to yours.

We suggest using either UPS or FedEx Next Day Air on which we offer competitive rates. If you choose not to use one of these recommended options and select UPS Ground, your order will be held until weather permits us to ship your wine order safely, which could be a delay of up to 3 months depending on location.

Please contact us at 800.716.2788 ext 128, or at orders@domainecarneros.com if you have any questions or concerns.
